

New Zealand Listener review of
'Pills & Potions at The Cotter Medical History Trust' (April 26, 2014)

The Cotter's collection of potions and patent medicines is a rich source of mind-boggling, stomach-churning answers to bodily complaints ranging from indigestion to nervous collapse. If you've got it, you'll find the cure in this fascinating excursion through an unregulated era when if it tasted horrible, it was bound to do you good. But don't try these potions at home. Essential reading in every doctor's waiting room.

Available in good bookshops or from The Cotter Medical History Trust. Paperback, 108 pages, colour throughout, ISBN 978 1 877578 57 1, 2014.

From the Museum

$ 20.00

Posted

$ 25.00